

Letter of Recommendation for Graduate School

To the Applicant

References or recommendations should be given by persons who are familiar with your qualifications for graduate study. Three letters of recommendation are required for admission to doctoral and to interdisciplinary degree programs. Some master's degree programs also require letters of recommendation (check with your program to be sure that your program area accepts this form).

Make copies of this form for each reference.

Fill out the top half of this form, as well as the name of the individual providing this reference (see below). Give him or her a stamped envelope addressed to yourself, with instructions to sign the envelope across the seal. Include it with your other application materials.

To the Academic Reference/Recommender

Type or print your letter of recommendation either on the back of this form or on your own letterhead. Be sure to return both the form and the letter. This recommendation will be used by the University of Northern Colorado only in its procedures relative to admission. If the student has not waived the right of access to the recommendation, it will be accessible to the student only if he/she enrolls in the above-referenced degree major at the University of Northern Colorado.

Write as candidly as possible about the applicant's qualifications and potential to carry out advanced studies in the field and at the degree level specified. In evaluating such qualities as the applicant's motivation, intellect, creativity, discipline, and maturity, discuss both strengths and weaknesses. It would be most helpful if you can recall specific instances in which these qualities were revealed to you. If it is possible for you to compare this student with others you have recommended for graduate study, please do so.

When you have completed the recommendation letter, please enclose this form and your letter in an envelope, seal the envelope, and sign it across the seal. Return it to the applicant to forward with his/her other application materials to the University of Northern Colorado, Graduate School, Campus Box 135, Greeley, CO 80639. Thank you for your assistance.
