Title: Assistant Professor, Speech-Language Pathology

Position Number: F99946

Job Summary

Assistant Professor, tenure-track, 9-month appointment in the Speech-Language Pathology program at the University of Northern Colorado. The position requires undergraduate and graduate teaching, supervision of graduate student research and advising, scholarly activity, including development of external funding, service, and clinical supervision.

Minimum Qualifications

This position requires an earned doctorate in Speech-Language Pathology, Communication Sciences and Disorders or closely related field and the Certificate of Clinical Competence – Speech-Language Pathology (CCC-SLP). ABDs will be considered if the dissertation proposal has been successfully defended and the doctorate is received within one (1) year of the starting date. The area of primary expertise should be either child language development & disorders or neurogenic communication disorders with secondary expertise in other areas of professional practice that will support the delivery of the undergraduate ASLS degree and the MA: SLP (residential and distance).

Preferred Qualifications

Preference will be given to applicants with demonstrated competence in one or more of the following areas: undergraduate/graduate teaching (faculty/TA), online education, medical speech-language pathology, early assessment and intervention, working with diverse cultural-linguistic communities, evidence-based practice, or clinical supervision.

Salary and Benefits

Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience. Benefits available include health, life, and dental insurance, as well as a selection of several defined contribution retirement programs. Dependents and spouses of UNC employees who are employed as 0.5 FTE or above are entitled to and eligible for Dependent Tuition Grants. These tuition grants will cover in-state tuition charges. Further requirements may exist. Other benefits may be available based on position. Opportunities for summer instruction may be available.

Requested Start Date:

A start of January 2, 2012 is strongly preferred; a start date of August 2012 may be possible.

Application Materials, Contact, and Application Deadline:

The position is open until filled; however, for optimal considerations, applicants should provide a complete application by October 10, 2011. Interested persons should apply online at <https://careers.unco.edu> and select “View/Apply for Faculty Positions” then choose “Assistant Professor – Speech-Language Pathology.” Application documents to be submitted online are: 1) a letter of application/cover letter, 2) a curriculum vitae, and 3) the names and contact information of at least three references. A statement of teaching/research interests also should be submitted via the online application process in the “Other Document” category. In addition to the material provided online, please send unofficial copies of terminal degree transcript and three letters of recommendation to: Dr. Julie Hanks, Chair Search and Screen Committee, Speech-Language Pathology, University of Northern Colorado, Campus Box 140, 501 20th Street, Greeley, CO 80639.

Additional Requirements:

Satisfactory completion of a background check, educational check, and authorization to work in the United States is required after a conditional offer of employment has been made. The successful candidate must submit original academic transcripts within one (1) month of hire.

Location and Environment:

The University of Northern Colorado is a Doctoral/Research University enrolling 12,000+ graduate and undergraduate students. The University, founded in 1889, is located in Greeley, Colorado, which has a growing population of 80,000. Greeley is an hour north of Denver and 30 miles east of the Rocky Mountains.
