

UNIVERSITY OF NORTHERN COLORADO

Position Title: Assistant Professor of Mathematics

Position Number: F99780

Job Summary:

Assistant Professor, tenure track, nine month appointment, in the School of Mathematical Sciences. Full-time load consists of nine hours of teaching per semester in addition to maintaining an active research program in mathematics and engaging in service activities.

Teaching responsibilities will include undergraduate and graduate mathematics courses. We offer opportunities to collaborate with a collegial group of mathematicians, mathematics educators, a statistician, and a computer scientist. See www.unco.edu/NHS/mathsci/ for more information about the School of Mathematical Sciences.

Minimum Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Mathematics is required. ABD's will be considered if the degree is received by the position start date. The successful candidate will be expected to show evidence of potential for excellent teaching and research in mathematics.

Preferred Qualifications:

The School of Mathematical Sciences provides instruction in mathematics, mathematics education, statistics, and computer science. We have a Ph.D. program in Educational Mathematics, a Master's program in mathematics for secondary teachers, significant emphasis on pre-service elementary and secondary teacher programs, and a strong interest in supporting undergraduate research. Innovative teaching and active classroom environments are strongly valued. The interest in and/or ability to contribute to any of the above is desired.

Salary and Benefits:

Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience. Benefits available include health, life, and dental insurance, as well as a selection of several defined contribution retirement programs. Dependents and spouses of UNC employees who are employed as 0.5 FTE or above are entitled to and eligible for Dependent Tuition Grants. These tuition grants will cover in-state tuition charges. Further requirements may exist. Other benefits may be available based on position. Opportunities for summer instruction may be available.

Requested Start Date:

August 20, 2012.
