

The Physics Program and MAST Institute invite you to a Science Fiction & Science presentation by

Connie Willis & Courtney Willis
Up & Above and Down Under

When: 3:30PM, Friday, April 27th

Location: Ross Hall, Rm. 0090, Univ. Northern Colorado

Up and Above - Connie Willis will give an overview of space in science fiction, from employing it as a setting to exploring its meaning, and using it in everything from space opera to serious science fiction. (PS Ms. Willis is being presented with a Grand Master award from the Science Fiction and Fantasy Writers of America in May for her lifetime achievement and influence on the science fiction field.)

Down Under - Dr. Courtney Willis will discuss the everyday science he and Connie observed while on a recent trip to New Zealand ranging from astronomy to geophysics. New Zealand is further south than Australia and therefore has a stronger claim to being down under.
