

Applied Statistics and Research Methods: PhD Degree Checklist

Details of the ASRM Doctor of Philosophy degrees (concentrations in Applied Statistics, Quantitative Research Methods, or Qualitative Research Methods) can be found within the online UNC Graduate Catalogue, including specific course requirements, admissions expectations, and purposes of the degrees. The following is a simple checklist intended to provide quick-reference guidance on major hurdles for the degrees.

- _____ Submit Concentration Form

- _____ Meet with advisor annually to discuss Progress Report

- _____ Complete Coursework
 - _____ 45 Hours Traditional Coursework
 - _____ 3 Hours Internship
 - _____ 4 Hours Doctoral Proposal Research
 - _____ 12 Hours Doctoral Dissertation

- _____ Submit Plan of Study*

- _____ Form Dissertation Committee / Submit Committee Form*

- _____ Submit Written Comprehensives Form (see comprehensives manual)

- _____ Complete Written Comprehensives (must be registered during associated term, department will report results to the Graduate School)

- _____ Schedule* (at least two weeks prior to exam) and Complete Oral Comprehensives (must be registered during associated term, department will report results to the Graduate School)

- _____ Complete Dissertation Proposal (must be registered during associated term) and Submit to Graduate School

- _____ Complete Verification of Research Subject Compliance*

- _____ Schedule* (at least two weeks prior to defense) and Complete Dissertation Defense (must be registered during associated term, department will report results to the Graduate School)

- _____ Submit Application for Graduation*

- _____ Obtain Graduate School Dissertation Format Approval

*Obtain from Graduate School Website (Link: <https://www.unco.edu/graduate-school/>)