

Results of state licensure exams

Teacher candidates complete state and national licensure examinations to document completers' knowledge and skills. The following chart provides evidence the candidates in the University of Northern Colorado (UNC) Unit demonstrate solid knowledge of content and skills across various programs. The scores reported are for program completers for the 2010-2011 academic year.

NCATE requires an 80% pass rate for individual programs seeking national recognition. Results of the Place exam and Place/Praxis exam for 2010-2011 indicate that UNC teacher candidates had an overall pass rate of 96% and 97%, respectively. For additional information on the licensure exams, please refer to 2010-2011 Title II – Higher Education Act Report, Section III - Assessment Rates and Summary Rates.
