

RECOGNITION OF DIVERSITY

- Allow students the opportunities to make choices as to how to demonstrate their knowledge of course information on assignments and exams.
- Allowing students to redo course assignments when they have family or personal crises.
- Providing course information on BlackBoard such as syllabi, assignments and handouts.
- Use grading systems based on course objectives and goals rather than bell-curves.