Modules

University Libraries

UNC's Graduate Student Professional Development is dedicated to assisting graduate students in their development as researchers and teachers. GSPD also assists in preparing students for employment upon graduation with a variety of events that provide a chance to develop as a professional.

Modules is where you can access available professional development resources.

Click on the Calendar icon on the left or Course Summary below to display upcoming GSPD Workshops that we are offering. Once you click on the workshop you can view more information and register.

Also for all workshops please click HERE to register for the workshop.
