

Assault Survivors Advocacy Program

I've learned...

- Crisis Intervention
- Emotional Support
for trauma situations
- Peer education

How to put together a presentation from referral to making the presentation, then presenting.

A.S.A.P. offers...

- Confidential Services to survivors and concerned others of Sexual Assault, Intimate Partner Violence, and Stalking.
  - Advocacy, Support, and Crisis Intervention
- Academic, Legal, Health and Wellness Referrals

Socially, not every client is the same. Every person I helped was different, in every aspect. Some were rich, others were poor. All clients were different ethnicities and races, and different genders. Most clients we see, tend to be white women. The support system women have, gives them the feeling to go to someone for help. Their support systems help women recover; where in men, the machismo effect is present, and they think men cannot be helped. So it was nice seeing so many different clients.
