

WHERE DO I FIT IN?

While college is an exciting time with many changes, college is also a great place to meet new people and try new things! Once you settle in at UNC, you may find yourself asking, where do I fit in? At UNC, there are many places where your interests can be explored and you can find many people who love the same things you love. In fact, there are over 100 clubs and organizations on campus that can suit any interest you may have!

If you were involved in any clubs or organizations in high school, then you know how clubs can help you make friends, pursue your passions, and expand skill-sets that you may have never even known you had.

The variety of clubs and organizations across campus are immense! This week's newsletter will help you decide which clubs are right for you.

Perhaps you've always wanted to join a fraternity or sorority? At UNC you have many options ranging from social to academic fraternities. Interested in writing? Check out UNC's student literary magazine or write for the school newspaper. Are you passionate about science? Join the chemistry, astronomy, or biology clubs on campus. Looking for something a little more relaxed? Try ping pong club. Want to join a club where you can give back and celebrate culture? Explore the American Indian Student Organization.

No matter where your interests are, UNC has a club for everything and if you find that there is no club that suits your interests, you can easily start your own! Continue reading to find out which club you cannot wait to join.

THIS WEEK'S HIGHLIGHT

Clubs and Organizations

There are many ways you can become involved across campus. Research indicates that students who are involved at their university receive better grades, are more satisfied with their college experience, and are more marketable when job searching. Continue reading to check out what opportunities await you at UNC.

Office of Student Life:

Located in the University Center, the Office of Student Life is your one-stop-shop for everything you need to get involved on campus. The Office of Student Life oversees several departments and provides programs and services that foster a sense of belonging, an inclusive campus, and opportunities for learning and growth. To learn more, check out their website here.

Clubs and Organizations:

There are over 100 clubs on campus that you can become a part of! Clubs and organizations range from professional, honorary, and academic, to social, cultural, political, and religious. What do you do if you cannot find a club that fits your interests? Grab two friends and charter your own club! Take a look at the full list of clubs and organization UNC currently offers here.

Fraternity and Sorority:

UNC currently has 26 social fraternities and sororities, and numerous academic and professional fraternities that you can join. The four types of Greek-letter organizations on campus are traditional social fraternities, multicultural fraternities/sororities, historically Black fraternities-sororities, and traditional social sororities. If you are interested in Greek-life, click here.

Student Senate:

Interested in serving the student body at UNC? Check out Student Senate! Every Wednesday night, Student Senate holds their meetings that are open to the public. Student Senate is composed of 7 cabinet members and 15 college student council representatives. Elections are held to fill said positions and, if you are interested, you could become one of the representatives from your specific college. For more information, click here.

University Program Council:

The UPC is an organization that consists of five student coordinators and many volunteers. The UPC coordinates campus-wide events including concerts, open-mic nights, and lectures. To view their website, click here.
