Undergraduate Advising launches blog with resources and students-first topics

Student Academic Success: The Professional Practice and Academic Review team launched the <https://www.unco.edu/advising/blog/> with bite-sized information on undergraduate advising practices, campus resources, and student support. The primary audience is academic advisors, both staff and faculty, who want to reference key topics quickly. Other staff who work closely with students will find value in the content as well.

“Advisors asked for a way to refresh on information quickly, and this blog offers 5–10-minute reads and videos to help them serve students.” -Dr. Blackburn, Advising Practice and Academic Review Coordinator.

Reasons to Bookmark the Blog

- Each post provides Action Items related to helping students
- Topics are tagged for easy search and navigation
- Info is designed for skimming and quick reference on demand

The blog will be updated at least twice per month with timely and relevant content. Guest posts and authorships are welcomed.

About Undergraduate Advising: UNC professional advisors and coaches provide holistic, inclusive support helping students navigate the institution to meet their academic and personal goals by building meaningful relationships and enacting intentional advising practices. Our advising practices prioritize equity and inclusion to serve as a welcoming and brave space of support to all UNC students.
